Contents

Lesson 1
Veritology: What Is Truth?

Lesson 2
Philosophy and Ethics: Says Who?

Lesson 3
Anthropology: Who Is Man?

Lesson 4
Theology: Who Is God?

Lesson 5
Science: What Is True?

Lesson 6
History: Whose Story?

Lesson 7
Sociology: The Divine Imprint

Lesson 8
Unio Mystica: Am I Alone?

Lesson 9
The State: Whose Law?

Lesson 10
The American Experiment:

Lesson 11
Labor: Created to Create

Lesson 12
Community & Involvement: God Cares; Do I?
Lesson 1
Veritology: What Is Truth?

Introduction
In this initial episode, students receive a general introduction to the overall scope and purpose of The Truth Project. This series is designed to take participants on a guided worldview tour, following the points of the worldview compass, a tool designed to direct our thinking with regard to four fundamental issues: truth, God, man, and the social order. Along the way, we attempt to build a logical, systematic framework by which to organize and evaluate the various truth claims encountered during the tour. Our ultimate goal is not simply to gain knowledge, but to look upon the face of God—and to be transformed in the process.

Themes
Our destination in Lesson 1 lies due north. The focal point for this first hour of discussion is the concept of truth itself. What is truth? Why is it important? What role does it play in the biblical view of the world, God’s purpose for the cosmos, His will for mankind, His plan of salvation, and the way we live our personal lives?

In his comments on this subject, Dr. Del Tackett demonstrates how truth was fundamental to the mission of Jesus Christ in the world; how it forms the heart of the cosmic battle that has been raging since the beginning; how this battle has divided the world into two opposing camps or sides; how lies, the antithesis of truth, take human hearts and minds captive by the power of deception; and how every man and woman now has to choose between God’s truth claims and the opposing perspective of the world, the flesh, and the devil.

To answer the question “What is truth?” Dr. Tackett consults the 1828 edition of Webster’s Dictionary, which defines truth as “conformity to fact or reality.” We also see how popular notions of truth (represented by man-on-the-street interviews) contrast sharply with the biblical concept (as articulated by Ravi Zacharias, Os Guinness, and R.C. Sproul).
Points to Watch for

Dr. Tackett concludes that, in almost every case, the perspective of contemporary culture stands in direct opposition to the truth-centered worldview presented in the Bible. In the process of making this case, he advances the bold claim that our culture is not only filled with lies but is actually heading in the direction of social insanity. As a result, he proposes that Pilate’s query—‘‘What is truth?’’—is the most important question facing our society today. He ends Lesson 1 by challenging his audience with this all-important question: Do you really believe that what you believe is really real?

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 Why Jesus Came

Jesus said that He had entered the world “to testify to the truth” (John 18:37).

1. What did Jesus mean by this? Why is it important?

2. How does Jesus’ statement relate to other aspects of His mission? What does truth have to do with your salvation?
Truth #2 World at War

A cosmic battle rages between the truth claims of God and the illusions of the world, the flesh, and the devil.

1. Identify some of the illusions about life that our culture tries to pass off as truth. What, for example, does the world say about the nature of man, or about our purpose for existence? How does our society say we can find happiness?
2. What happens when our fallen inner nature leads us to ignore a truth claim of God and instead believe in a lie? Pinpoint some illusions that have been the most deceptive or harmful in your own life.
3. How do you feel about living in the midst of a war? Do you see yourself as a soldier? Why or why not?
4. How should we relate to people who do not know the truth in Jesus Christ? If they are not our enemies, what are they?

Truth #3 Truth = What Is

Truth is that which conforms to fact or reality.

1. What do people mean when they refer to “my truth” or “your truth”? How should we respond to them?
2. What is insanity? Have you ever been “insane”? Explain. In what sense is this world becoming more insane?
3. Do you really believe that what you believe is really real? What assumption lies behind this question? What is the clearest indicator of your core beliefs?
4. What does faith mean? Explain the difference between “faith in faith” and faith in the truth claims of God.

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 2
Philosophy and Ethics: Says Who?

Introduction

In this second installment of our worldview tour, Dr. Tackett takes students into the northeast quadrant of the compass for an introduction to philosophy and ethics, the two outside pillars of our Temple of Truth or framework of foundational concepts. In essence, the message of this lesson parallels the precept of Proverbs 23:7—“As a man thinks in his heart, so is he.” There is a formal and vital connection between our ideas about the nature of the world (philosophy) and our understanding of right and wrong behavior (ethics).

Themes

Philosophy, according to Dr. R.C. Sproul, is “a scientific quest to discover ultimate reality.” This would seem to indicate that philosophical ideas about truth are closely aligned with the biblical definition given in Lesson 1: truth = reality. In this connection, it’s worth noting that the 1828 edition of Webster’s Dictionary included the following affirmation: “True religion and true philosophy must ultimately arrive at the same principle.” Significantly, Webster’s original definition of the word also asserted that philosophy aims “to enlarge our understanding of God.” God, of course, has been edited out of subsequent editions of the dictionary.

This is consistent with the perspective of contemporary culture, which has been taken captive by the unfounded assumption that “the cosmos is all there is or ever was or ever will be” (Carl Sagan). Another way to say this is that current thought pictures reality as a closed box—a cosmic cube—in which there is no room for anything that cannot be sensually or materially perceived. The problem is that with the lid of the box closed and God excluded, philosophy is deprived of a universal reference point and thus crippled in its “scientific quest for ultimate reality.” As a result, it cannot answer the most basic questions about right and wrong behavior.
TheTruthProject

Points to Watch For

Dr. Tackett persuasively argues that even the most outspoken adherents of “cosmic cube” thinking and relativistic ethics—thinkers like Carl Sagan and William Provine—cannot possibly live by their own reductionist and materialistic principles. On the other side of the coin, he suggests that many contemporary Christians have been unwittingly taken captive by the assumptions of our age (“conformed to this world”). He concludes the lesson by challenging students to think more aggressively about what it means to be “transformed by the renewing of your mind” (Romans 12:2).

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 Trapped in the Box

The world has been taken captive by the idea that the cosmos is all that is, ever was, or ever will be.

1. What does Dr. Tackett mean by “assumptive language”? Aside from its use in Carl Sagan’s old TV series, what are some more current examples in the popular culture?

2. Do you sense that most people are satisfied to be part of a purely materialistic universe (the “cosmic cube”)? Why or why not? What impressions do you get from your non-Christian friends or family members? How do they attempt to cope with life “inside the box”?
Truth #2 Outside the Box

The Bible says that God actually exists outside the universe. He is not part of it, but He created it and is active within it.

1. Why does it matter that God is not part of “the box” but is independent of it?
2. How important is it to you that God chose to reveal Himself in a special way as well, not just through His creation? What if He had chosen not to intervene in history? Or what if He came to us in Christ but never left a written record of it? Is it possible to take the Bible for granted?

Truth #3 It’s Dark Inside the Box

When philosophy leaves out God and looks for answers to life only within the natural world, it cannot discover reality.

1. What sort of empty spiritualism do you notice in your community that is being offered as a substitute for belief in a transcendent God? What is its attraction?
2. Was there ever a time in your life when you tried to discover “universal” truths without looking to the Bible for answers? If so, describe your search. How successful were you?
3. Define postmodernism. How should we speak to loved ones who doubt the very existence of objective truth?

Truth #4 Anarchy in the Box

Without God, there is no basis for ethics. Right and wrong make no sense in a naturalistic universe.

1. Have you ever known a person who genuinely did not believe in any ethical standard? Why is it impossible to live by that belief?
2. How do you differentiate right from wrong? Is the Bible your only guide? What about your conscience (Romans 1:32; 2:14-15)? And what about the Holy Spirit (Galatians 5:16-25)?
3. What does it mean to say that morality is rooted in God’s very nature? Why does He want us to reflect His character by our attitudes and behavior (Genesis 1:26-27; 2 Corinthians 3:18; Colossians 3:10; 1 Peter 1:16; 1 John 3:2)?
Truth #5 Escaping the Box

We are called not just to adopt intellectually a biblical worldview, but also to have our minds renewed so we really believe the realities of which the Bible speaks.

1. Explain what Dr. Tackett meant by your “personal worldview.” What are some ways in which your personal worldview is less than biblical?

2. How do we go about having our minds renewed? List some practical steps toward that goal.

3. What sort of people do you think God would like us to be transformed into? Be specific.

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 3
Anthropology: Who Is Man?

Introduction
Lesson 3 takes us into the western regions of the compass, where we engage in an in-depth examination of biblical and contemporary ideas about the nature of the human race. The focus of the discussion is anthropology: Who is man? Where did he come from? What is the meaning and purpose of his existence? In the course of this study, Dr. Tackett demonstrates that the answers we bring to these questions have a direct bearing on our approach to another pressing problem, one of the thorniest and most challenging of all—Why is there evil in the world?

Themes
Having established the importance of determining whether the cosmos is to be viewed as an open or a closed box, Dr. Tackett now moves on to examine another defining aspect of any comprehensive worldview: its basic assumptions about mankind. Here again we discover a fundamental conflict between Christianity and the perspective of contemporary culture. The Bible teaches that man consists of both body and spirit and is created in the image of God; our culture assumes that he is purely material, the product of mindless, purposeless forces. The Bible says that man has rebelled against God and fallen from his original state of innocence; contemporary thought maintains that he is “basically good.” The Bible affirms man’s need for divine grace, redemption, and regeneration; popular thinking asserts that “self-actualization” is the key to happiness and fulfillment.

Christianity presents evil as the product of the cosmic battle that rages within man—the conflict between humanity as it was meant to be and what it has actually become as a result of sin. Godless philosophy and psychology, on the other hand, can suggest only one possible solution to the problem of evil in the world: Man must throw off the restraints of social conventions and institutions (i.e., any kind of moral standard) and pursue “self-fulfillment” to the fullest possible extent. This is what Dr. Tackett calls “the pernicious lie.”
Points to Watch for

Some viewers—even those who consider themselves Christians—may have difficulty accepting the idea that “self-fulfillment” and the call to “follow your heart” are inconsistent with a Christian worldview. Others may object to Dr. Tackett’s assertion that a great deal of the radical social and political activism we see in the world today is driven primarily by secular man’s sinful desire to throw off the shackles of “God’s social design.” All will find it stimulating and profitable to wrestle with the question he poses: Why do non-believers and evolutionists find evil so troubling?

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 Natural Man

Our culture says that man is purely material, the product of mindless forces.

1. People who claim that they are mere accidents of biology still seem driven to find purpose and meaning in life. Why? What keeps them from living according to their beliefs? Why is suicide common today?

2. What presuppositions lie behind the radical environmental movement (not just our common desire to protect nature)? Or behind the animal rights cause? The abortion movement? What other societal trends can you trace to a belief that man is just another product of nature?
Truth #2 Supernatural Man

The Bible teaches that man consists of both body and spirit and is created in the image of God.

1. What makes man unique in the universe? What does it mean to be made in the image of God?
2. Describe the states of man. Which state are you in? What about friends and family? How concerned are you for those who have not been “redeemed”?

Truth #3 “Find Yourself”?

The world says that man is naturally good, so evil must derive from the social institutions that stop him from doing what he wants.

1. What evidence can you find that people have bought the concept of man’s innocence? How does this lead to a culture of blame and a “victim mentality”?
2. If man is just a product of nature, how can anything be considered evil? What does the world say about this?
3. What solution does society offer to the individual’s struggle for fulfillment? How has this pernicious lie worked out? Why are people so hostile to those of us who believe in moral absolutes?

Truth #4 Deny Yourself

As Christians, we experience an inner conflict between our new nature and the old, fallen nature that causes us to think and do wrong.

1. Are we the people we want to be? Are we able to think and act according to our best intentions? Why or why not? What are some common struggles of Christians today?
2. What can we do to win the battle that rages within? What did the apostle Paul say about it (Romans 7:14-25; 8:13; Colossians 3:5)?
When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 4

Theology: Who is God?

Introduction

Having explored the concept of truth and examined the biblical view of human nature—two basic issues that had to be settled before we could move on to the present discussion—Dr. Tackett now takes us to the eastern point of the compass. Here he proceeds to lay the third and most important foundation of our “Truth Temple”: theology, the branch of study and investigation that grapples with the question, “Who is God?” Knowing God, he argues, ought to be our passion and our highest goal. For until we look upon His face, we cannot rightly know ourselves or begin to grasp the meaning of our existence in the world.

Themes

Knowing God is absolutely central to the meaning of human life, for it is only in the context of an intimate, personal relationship with Him that we experience eternal life. At the same time, there is no assignment more daunting, no task more demanding, no challenge more overwhelming, than that of seeking to understand the being, nature, character, and attributes of the eternal Creator, who is Himself the ultimate source of all truth (Colossians 2:3). So impossibly huge is this endeavor that we could not hope to tackle it at all except for the fact that He has graciously revealed Himself to us in His Word. Apart from this revelation, mankind gropes and struggles in the darkness to piece together even the most flawed and rudimentary concept of God.

In line with this thought, R.C. Sproul asserts that ours is an era in which the knowledge of God has been eclipsed—not completely destroyed, but obscured and shadowed by lies and misconceptions. Given this situation, it is essential that we establish two main points: 1) that God exists; and 2) that the Bible, the vehicle of His self-revelation, is utterly reliable. Following Sproul’s lead, Dr. Tackett uses a significant portion of this tour to respond to attacks that have been leveled against God’s Word over the course of history (another aspect of the cosmic battle). He answers the objections of Voltaire, Robert Ingersoll, and liberal theologians such as Julius Wellhausen and the members of the Jesus Seminar. He also illustrates the Bible’s historical accuracy by helping us resolved an apparent scriptural discrepancy concerning the dates of King Jehoram’s reign.
But the heart of this episode’s message hits much closer to home. For in the end, Dr. Tackett makes it clear that we cannot truly know ourselves until we have begun to know God in the fullness and richness of His multifaceted nature and character—not only as the God of mercy and grace, but also as the God who is a consuming fire, jealous for the purity of the covenant relationship (El Qanna).

When this knowledge dawns upon us, we can expect two things to happen. First, the revelation of God’s character will, like a mirror, reveal things to us about ourselves, so that we, along with the prophet Isaiah, are compelled to cry, “Woe is me, for I am undone!” (Isaiah 6:5). But then secondly, as He raises us out of our despair and shows us who we are and who we can be in Him, we will be granted the gift of a new name—a whole new concept of our being, our identity, and our purpose in life with God. Once again, the fruit of this experience will be personal transformation.

Points to Watch For

During the course of this tour, the theme of the cosmic battle is revisited several times and from a number of different angles. As in the first three episodes, Dr. Tackett consistently returns to the point that fallen man resists the truth, and that, as Christians, we are thus called to “cast down” arguments against the knowledge of God, “bringing every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ” (2 Corinthians 10:5). Man, says Dr. Tackett, has a tendency to “play fast and loose” with God’s Word, not because he is seriously interested in ascertaining the facts about biblical history, but because he is unwilling to face up to the convicting power of divine revelation as it applies to his personal life. In the final analysis, God’s Word is the main thing standing in the way of “self-actualization” as it is promoted by the gurus of contemporary culture. Some students may find it difficult to accept this idea.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.
The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 The Greatest Commandment

Nothing in life matters more than knowing and loving God.

1. How did Jesus describe “eternal life,” and what does that say about God’s role in our daily existence? Do you like His definition of life, or are there times when you’d rather be left alone? Explain.

2. What kind(s) of knowledge does God want us to have of Him? Why? Would you say you are “close” to Him? Explain.

3. Do we live as if relating to Him is more important than anything else we do? Why or why not?

Truth #2 Thee and Me

Only by relating to God can we discover who we are.

1. What would you know about yourself and your purpose for living if God had not first revealed Himself to you?

2. How does relating intimately to God help you understand yourself? Your neighbor? Your culture?

Truth #3 The Bible Tells Me So

We must study God’s Word in order to understand more about His nature and to “gaze into His face.”

1. Why has God’s written word always been under intense attack by the world? What are some recent examples you’ve observed?

2. Do you hunger and thirst for more knowledge of God through studying and obeying the Scriptures—or do you often feel as though you’ve “been there, done that”? Why? What would you like to do differently?
When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 5

Science: What Is True?

Introduction

In this, our fifth worldview tour, we head northwest, enter the cavern of nature, gaze upon the jewels of creation, and establish yet another important pillar in the Temple of Truth: science. In the process, we discover that whereas “the heavens declare the glory of God; And the firmament shows His handiwork” (Psalm 19:1)—so that the Creator’s “invisible attributes are clearly seen” (Romans 1:20)—mankind has nevertheless chosen to ignore the obvious truth, twisting scientific investigation into a vehicle for propagating a godless philosophy of human independence and self-determination.

Themes

Having completed our brief introductory discussion of the nature and character of God, we turn now to consider a very different question: What does “the stuff in the box” really tell us when we honestly look at it? Dr. Tackett argues that scientific investigation—“the systematic study of the structure and behavior of the physical and natural world through observation and experiment”—is also a valid way of ascertaining truth. For when we open the box, we find that it is filled with voices that speak to us loudly about the majesty and power of the One who has created the physical universe. Everywhere we look—whether up at the grandeur of the stars and galaxies or deep into the tiny and elegantly designed inner workings of a living cell—there is evidence that the cosmos is the handiwork of an intelligent, rational mind. In the contemplation of nature, we come face to face with the truth that God exists and that He has revealed Himself to us, not only through His written Word (special revelation) but also through the works of His hands (general revelation).

Our natural reaction to this experience should be like that of a child: wonder, marvel, and praise for the Creator. But because of the effects of the fall and the polarizing influence of the cosmic battle, man shows a tendency to deny what is plain to the senses and to “exchange the truth of God for a lie” (see Romans 1:25). Driven by this impulse, he transforms straightforward scientific inquiry, which properly concerns itself with particulars, into an all-embracing philosophy, which claims to establish universals on the basis of the “stuff in the box.” The result is the propagation of a worldview that “scientifically” excludes the Creator, thus “freeing” mankind from accountability to a higher authority.

Central to this philosophy are the assertions of Darwinian evolutionary theory. By keeping the details of creation’s story completely inside “the box,” evolution effectively rules out the existence of God. Herein lies the heart of the debate over “intelligent design.” Atheist C. Richard Bozarth actually goes so far as to claim that “evolution destroys utterly and finally the very reason Jesus’ earthly life was supposedly made necessary.” It is exactly this kind of philosophical assumption that inspires the visceral antagonism of evolutionists toward anyone who dares question the validity of their theory. This is why Darwinists so fervently assert that “evolution is no longer merely a theory, but an established fact.” But the truth of the matter, as Dr. Tackett and his guest experts demonstrate in great detail, is that the theory is not supported by the evidence. Many inside the scientific community are beginning to recognize this. But they dare not acknowledge it publicly because of the worldview issues at stake. As Dr. David Berlinski says, “The consequences are serious.”

Points to Watch For

The essence of Dr. Tackett’s message may be summed up as follows: Fallen man ignores the plain evidence of objective scientific inquiry and promotes the atheistic philosophy of evolutionary theory primarily because he is determined to do as he pleases without answering to a higher authority. This charge may make some group participants uncomfortable precisely because it hits so close to home. Dr. Tackett also illustrates the point that ideas have consequences by drawing a historical connection between Darwinian theory and the horrors of Nazi Germany. Some students may feel inclined to debate his assertions in this regard.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.
The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 Plain as Day (and Night Too)

According to the Bible, God has revealed His glorious nature in the universe He created.

1. What are some specific things in the physical world that fill you with awe? What do they tell you about the Creator?
2. How difficult is it for us to view nature (a rainbow, for example) as we once did? Does that matter? How might we restore our childlike sense of wonder at God’s creation?

Truth #2 Science Started with God

The scientific revolution began with the assumption that the world had been divinely created in an orderly way and could therefore be studied.

1. How do you feel about the fact that early science was primarily a Christian response to the world around us? How might that encourage you when you see science being used today as an argument against the faith?
2. In what way can scientific research be an act of worship?
3. Which early scientist(s) might you want to learn more about? You can often read their very own works, not just biographies about them.

Truth #3 A Stronger Case Than Ever

Today we have new evidence pointing to God’s design of the universe.

1. What are some key things we understand about the night sky that we didn’t know even a hundred years ago? Which objects might you want to locate there with binoculars or the naked eye?
2. What do you think of the scientific evidence that suggests the universe has not always existed?
3. Explain in your own words what has been discovered about the inner workings of the cell and the information contained in DNA. How is this like finding a wristwatch in the field while out on a walk? What other evidences of design in nature impress you or make you want to investigate further?

Truth #4 The Blind Eye and Deaf Ear

Modern science refuses to follow the evidence where it leads and instead treats alternative theories about the universe as fact.

1. Why did Einstein and other scientists want to believe that the world had always been here? What discovery spoiled their hopes? How do you feel about scientists who are driven more by their religious or philosophical worldview than by scientific data?

2. Suppose you were talking to someone who thought Darwin's theory of evolution explained life on earth. What evidence (or lack of evidence) in modern science would you mention to call evolution into doubt?

3. What are some ways that scientists have responded to evidence for intelligent design in the cell? How might you review or study the evidence further so that you can share it with others?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 6
History: Whose Story?

Introduction
The word remember is central to the message of lesson 6. On this tour we set up the fourth and final pillar in the Temple of Truth—history—and take a close look at the importance of maintaining a firm grip on the past. In the process, we see that a proper appreciation of historical context—in other words, our place in God’s “larger story”—is fundamental to an accurate understanding of almost every aspect of our lives. History provides us with indispensable insights into the meaning of existence, God’s plan and purpose for the ages, man’s responsibility toward the Creator, and his duty toward his fellow creatures.

Themes
Dr. Tackett’s key scripture passage for this discussion is Isaiah 46:9-11: “Remember the former things of old, for I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like Me, Declaring the end from the beginning, And from ancient times things that are not yet done…. Indeed, I have spoken it; I will also bring it to pass.” Two major thoughts arise from these verses. First, God is sovereign, or absolutely in control. History is in the most literal sense His story. Nothing happens at random or by chance. The hairs of our heads are numbered, and the details of our lives are threads in the great tapestry of His overarching providential plan. Second, we as human beings cannot understand our place in the world without cultivating a vision of ourselves as part of this larger story. This is why the Bible contains so many exhortations to “remember” what God has done in the past, whether through the device of “memorial stones,” annual festivals, tassels, phylacteries, or the discipline of “hiding His Word in our hearts.” If we do not remember, we run the risk of becoming myopic, proud, and self-sufficient, eventually incurring our own destruction (see Deuteronomy 8). This is not necessarily physical destruction, but rather a complete loss of identity, purpose, and meaning, or what Amos refers to as a famine of “hearing the words of the Lord” (Amos 8:11).
Here too we come face to face with the implications of man’s fallen nature and encounter yet another manifestation of the cosmic battle. Man resists the idea of a sovereign God. He wants to control his own destiny, live inside his own “little story,” and free himself from all connections with or references to an all-inclusive divine plan. Thus he devises ways to propagate the “pernicious lie” of self-determination (“I am my own god,” or “I believe in myself”) by taking the larger story of history into his own hands and turning it into a powerful tool for the manipulation of other people and the accomplishment of his own selfish purposes. Historical revisionism, or the agenda-driven re-writing of history, operates on the basis of the premise, “If I can change your historical context, I can determine the way you view the present.”

This strategy is consistent with George Orwell’s observation that “he who controls the past controls the future” and Karl Marx’s dictum, “A people without a heritage are easily persuaded.”

Postmodernism—the contemporary philosophical perspective that rejects both revelation and reason—takes this process to an extreme conclusion by denying the validity of all comprehensive truth systems, or what it calls metanarratives (including Christianity). Stated simply, the postmodern perspective maintains that there is no “larger story.” Instead, everyone must tell his or her own story and invent (if possible) his or her own concept of meaning and significance. In other words, history does not exist at all except as it exists in our own minds, where it can be edited and tailored to further our own goals in the present.

Points to Watch For

As we have seen so often during the course of our first five tours, the essence of the cosmic battle or the conflict between truth and lies can be boiled down to a confrontation between the claims of the sovereign God and the claims of the sovereign self. It’s the old story of the Garden of Eden, where the serpent re-wrote the past by asking, “Has God really said...?” and where man became completely caught up in his own “little story.” From beginning to end, Dr. Tackett’s message in episode 6 is that “it’s not all about you.” As Jesus put it, “He who seeks to save his life will lose it.” Given our current “self-actualizing” cultural climate, it is likely that some group participants will take exception to this idea. Others may have theological objections to Dr. Tackett’s statements about the relationship between God’s sovereignty and human free will, for he states very plainly that if we are only free agents, then we are completely without hope.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.
Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 History Matters

Knowing what happened in the past helps us understand the present and then act accordingly.

1. What would you do if you woke up tomorrow morning and couldn’t remember anything about your past? Really try to imagine having amnesia. How important is your personal history?

2. How would you rate your knowledge of history in general? Of Western civilization? In what ways might a better understanding of the past help you in life?

Truth #2 Time to Rewrite?

Revising history and casting doubt on God’s Word are old tactics of those who oppose us.

1. What book, textbook, or video documentary do you know about that seems to rewrite a part of history? How best can you alert others to all the misinformation out there?

2. Why do you think the Bible’s historical accuracy is always being challenged? Have those attacks in any way diminished your confidence in Scripture? What do we know about the formation of the Bible that should give you great comfort?
Truth #3 Join in God’s Story

Life is not about us but about God’s sovereign plan for redeeming mankind. We should remember His past actions and participate in His grand purpose.

1. Whether out loud or in writing, try telling the entire story of the Bible, from beginning to end, in your own words. If you find that too difficult, which parts of “salvation history” do you need to brush up on?

2. How would you rate your knowledge of what God has done through His people in the centuries that followed Jesus’ time on earth? How would you like to improve your understanding of church history? How would that be helpful to you?

3. Are we living out mostly our own stories, or are we participating in God’s larger story? What might that mean in practical terms? What is He calling us to do?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 7
Sociology: The Divine Imprint

Introduction
During the course of Lesson 5 we took a good look at a few of the miraculous ways in which the physical universe declares the glory of its Maker. Now we turn south to consider some of the amazingly detailed reflections of God’s nature inherent in the social order. According to Dr. Tackett, the evidences of the divine imprint that we see in this realm are even more awe-inspiring and more indicative of the heart of the Creator than the marvels of DNA replication or the complexities of the blood-clotting system. But for this very reason they also stand closer to the focal point of the cosmic battle.

Themes
We begin where we left off in the fifth tour: with the voice of nature making loud and unmistakable statements about the nature and character of God. “Ask the animals, and they will teach you,” Job says, “or the birds of the air, and they will tell you” (Job 12:7-8, NIV). In this case, order is one of the overwhelming messages with which creation bombards us. From the atom to the solar system, from photosynthesis to the cleansing tides, from the human body to the design of a chicken egg—everywhere we look we see obvious indications of purposeful design in the things God has made. This, of course, is a serious problem for those who argue that the universe is the product of “random, mindless forces.”

The same element of order is apparent in the social systems God has instituted. Dr. Tackett lays out six that he sees in Scripture: family, labor, church, state, community, and the relationship between man and his Maker. But the order we detect in this area is not simply an expression of the Lord’s creative design. Instead, it flows out of His very nature. It is a reflection of who He is. As Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, the Triune God embodies in Himself the ultimate resolution of the old philosophical problem of “the one and the many.” He exemplifies diversity within unity, and the answer to why it is “not good for man to be alone” is bound up in the Triune Essence. Relationship, union, communion, intimacy, fellowship, love, and community—these things have existed from all eternity within the economy of the Godhead. Accordingly, they serve as the basis for the smooth and ordered functioning of creation.
It is for this very reason, Dr. Tackett argues, that basic social institutions such as marriage, family, and church have come under such heavy attack in our day. Just as the world, the flesh, and the devil hate the Creator with a fervent and undying hatred, so they inevitably stand opposed to the social order that bears the imprint of His divine nature.

As this tour unfolds, the principles of order and relationship are examined specifically as we find them manifested in three of the social systems designed by God: the family, the church, and the union between God and man (“The Intimate Three”). During the course of this discussion, Dr. Tackett explains how the threefold Trinitarian pattern is reflected in and fundamental to the internal functioning of each of these spheres. Special attention is given to the subject of the family and some of the pathologies associated with disregard for the divine plan in this crucial area of human life.

Points to Watch For

Statements from video interviewees poignantly highlight the pain, confusion, and deep emotional reactions connected with almost any examination of family life and family-related issues. Similar emotions are almost certain to arise during group discussion. The video segments also present a broad range of popular definitions of “family,” a subject that has the potential to stir up equally diversified reactions from group participants. In addition, Dr. Tackett and his students fearlessly broach the often troublesome topic of authority and submission within the context of marriage, the church, and other aspects of God’s social design.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.
2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.
3. Watch the DVD together.
4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.
Truth #1 God’s Social Networks

Our basic social institutions, including the family and the church, did not just evolve but were created by God.

1. How well can you back up this statement with Scripture? Or with other evidence?
2. How would your life be different if there were no social order—no family to belong to, no churches, no governmental or community structures—but just you, on your own? Imagine and describe a typical day or week.

Truth #2 The Stamp of God

The family as God designed it reflects His own nature. The church does so as well.

1. In what ways do marriage and family mirror the character of God? Describe what you see happening whenever people try to change the design He intended.
2. What should it mean in practical terms that Christ is head of His body, the church?

Truth #3 Under Attack

The world’s hostility toward God lies behind its war against the family and other institutions He created.

1. Do you believe the family is under attack? If so, in what ways? What can happen when one social institution tries to supersede another rather than stay within divinely ordered bounds? Give some examples.
2. What societal problems can be traced back to the breakdown of God’s social order? Which of these problems most concern you, and what can we do about them?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 8

Unio Mystica: Am I Alone?

Introduction

Lesson 8 takes us to the southeast sector of the Truth compass for a tour of the social sphere that Dr. Tackett characterizes as the heart and soul of Christianity: the Mystical Union (Latin, Unio Mystica) between God and man. Here, in the most intimate and profoundly mysterious sphere of the “Intimate Three” (family, church, and the God-man relationship), we have the privilege of pondering exactly what it is that Christ has purchased for us at the price of His precious blood shed on the Cross for our sins: not simply salvation from hell, but an invitation into communion with the Godhead, where we may experience an incomprehensible oneness with the Creator of the universe.

Themes

In our discussion of the family, we saw that the apostle Paul likens the bond between Christ and the church to the oneness shared between husband and wife (Ephesians 5:31-32). This oneness, he concludes, is a “profound mystery”—a concept that is difficult to fully grasp. On this tour, we proceed to examine an even deeper and more mysterious aspect of this bond: namely, that it is experienced not only within marriage and the corporate context of the body of Christ, but also on an intimate, personal level by the individual believer. This, says Dr. Tackett, is the greatest of all the wonders we will contemplate during the course of our study: that the God of the universe has come to make His dwelling both with us and in us.

Dr. Tackett marshals an impressive array of scriptural passages and biblical images to illustrate both facets of this glorious truth. On the corporate side, he draws our attention to Jesus’ discourse on the vine and the branches and the importance of “abiding” in Him (John 15:5); the high priestly prayer of John 17, in which Christ speaks again and again of the oneness shared between the Father, the Son, and the body of believers (“I in them and You in Me”); the several passages in which Paul emphasizes the importance of unity in the church and the mutual edification of the various members of the body (1 Corinthians...
12:12-31; Ephesians 2:19-22; 4:11-16; Galatians 3:28-29); and the many “one another” commandments with which Jesus and the apostles set forth their vision for our common life as Christians, including John 13:34-35; Romans 12:10; Ephesians 4:2; Colossians 3:16; and 1 Peter 1:22. On the personal, individual side, he cites Jesus’ statement to Nicodemus about being “born again” (John 3:7); His promise of the indwelling Spirit (John 14:16-17); Paul’s declaration that “if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation” (2 Corinthians 5:17); and the apostle’s astounding claim that “Christ lives in me” (Galatians 2:20). In connection with this discussion, Dr. Tackett points out that we must be careful not to “blur the spheres” by applying the unique and particular social laws of one realm to another realm—for example, by assuming that we can meet our need for Christian fellowship by worshiping God individually, or that we can enter into the wonder of the Unio Mystica simply by attending services at the local church.

As in all the social spheres, there is potential here for the emergence of dysfunctions and pathologies as the effects of the cosmic battle make themselves felt at the very core of man’s relationship with God. Interestingly enough, marital imagery arises again in this connection: the Lord warns His people many times in Scripture against the danger of “prostituting” themselves or “going a-whoring” after other gods and idols (see Numbers 15:38-39). Just as spouses are to seek fulfillment of the sexual drive exclusively within the bonds of the marriage covenant, so we as believers are to confine our quest for significance to the covenant relationship with the Creator. For it is this powerful human hunger for significance, says Dr. Tackett, when directed outside God’s covenant relationships, that constitutes the single most formidable barrier to intimacy, communion, and oneness. All too often, we forsake the Lord and cut ourselves off from others in an attempt to puff up our own sense of self-importance.

Points to Watch For

Especially important to the overall message of this lesson is the idea that oneness with God represents the heart of the gospel; in other words, that Christianity is not primarily a moral, philosophical, or religious system, but rather a deep, intimate, and living relationship with a personal Creator. This, to return to a point made in Lesson 4, is the essence of “eternal life”—that is, knowing God just as intimately as Adam knew Eve. It is important to help students come to the place where they can not only begin to understand this concept rationally—something we can never fully achieve—but also to feel the wonder of it in a profoundly affecting way. This is the point at which the transformational aspect of this tour will come home to participants.

Some students may also need to wrestle with the implications of Dr. Tackett’s warning about the danger of “blurring the spheres.”
The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 One on One

God has called each of us into an intimate relationship with Him.

1. In what way does being saved go beyond merely escaping the final judgment and entering eternal life? God “saves” us for what purpose?

2. Describe your present relationship with God. Would you call it intimate? Distant? Neither? How much of your relationship has to do with “hearing His voice” and sensing His love, not just intellectually knowing about Him?

3. What measures can we take to grow closer to the Lord? Are there regular practices or disciplines that would help us “abide” in Him? What might a plan of action look like?
Truth #2 Together with Him

God has called us to form one body, the church, that is intimately related to Him.

1. Why is there no such thing as individual Christianity? Have you tried to follow Christ alone? In what ways do we need others in our endeavor to obey the Lord?
2. What does God want believers to do for and with one another? Pick your favorite New Testament epistle (such as Colossians or 1 Peter) and highlight every command God gave to His people in that letter. Which of them are you doing faithfully, at least among your closest friends and family members? Which commands would you like to work on more?
3. Why is it important not to let our own relationship to God become a substitute for involvement with other Christians in the church, or vice versa? If you have ever made this mistake, what was the result?

Truth #3 Barriers to Intimacy

We distance ourselves from the Lord and from one another whenever we strive for personal significance instead of finding God’s love sufficient.

1. What keeps us from deeper intimacy with God? Scrambling to “make a mark” in life? Pursuing wealth or success or popularity? Other distractions or misplaced priorities? Let the Lord speak to you as you consider this. What would He have us do differently?
2. What keeps the church from oneness and unity in Christ, both locally and on a larger scale? When are doctrinal differences handled wrongly?
3. If the local church is really about relationships (per the “one another” commands in Scripture), where can you find your best opportunities to connect with and help other believers in a significant way?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 9
The State: Whose Law?

Introduction
In the southwest quadrant of our compass lie the spheres of the state, politics, and law. On this, the ninth of twelve worldview tours to be completed during the course of The Truth Project, we take a close and careful look at how these spheres are interconnected and how they relate to other aspects of the social realm: family, church, labor, community, and the relationship between God and man. Special attention is given to the design, structure, and role of the state, its place in God’s plan for human society, and the rightful extent and limits of its power. The state, as we will see, has the capacity to exert a tremendous power for good in the affairs of mankind as long as it operates within its proper boundaries. But it also has the potential to become the most horrendously pathological and abusive of all the social spheres if not kept in check.

Themes
Significantly, Dr. Tackett begins this tour with a look at older ideas about the relationship between the state and the ethical realm. According to Webster's 1828 Dictionary, law, politics, and the state are, among other things, concerned with the preservation and improvement of a people’s morals. Though few today would be inclined to accept this definition, a moment’s reflection is sufficient to demonstrate how important it really is. For as Dr. Tackett illustrates by considering a very simple question —“Can the state steal?”—human governments are capable of error and transgression and must be held accountable to a higher ethical law if they are to be prevented from wreaking havoc in the lives of the citizens entrusted to their oversight and care.

God’s perspective on the state, as we discover through a careful examination of the relevant scriptural passages, is that it is strictly subordinate to His sovereign dominion and control. Just as the Son is subject to the Father, the wife to the husband, and the elders of the church to the headship of Christ, so the authority of the state, within the economy of the divine design for the political sphere, is subject to and dependent upon the authority of God Himself. Governors and magistrates hold their power purely as delegates and representatives of the King of all kings. They are appointed and armed with the sword in order that they might (1) punish evil and (2) condone good. Those who forget these principles and become puffed up with a sense of their own importance are, like Ahab (1 Kings 21), Nebuchadnezzar (Daniel 4:20-30), Uzziah (2 Chronicles 26), and Herod (Acts 12:21-23), liable to swift and severe judgment.

This last point is worthy of special attention; for, as the Bible and history demonstrate, when human rulers overstep their bounds, deny the sovereignty of the various social spheres, and seek to establish state control over every other area of human life, tyranny, oppression, and violence are sure to follow. The godless expansion of the power of the state has reared its ugly head many times in the past, most notably in the 20th century regimes of rulers like Stalin, Lenin, Hitler, Mao, and Pol Pot. It is raising its head again in our own time, says Dr. Tackett. Without God, truth, or any higher moral standard, people are increasingly looking to the state as savior and the supplier of every human need. In the face of this trend, Bible-believing Christians must have the courage to resist what Dr. Tackett calls “the rise of the state”—to stand firm, draw a line in the sand, and say, “This far and no more.”

Points to Watch For

Dr. Tackett warns students at the outset of this tour that some may find themselves “conflicted” as they contemplate the implications of his message. This is because, as a result of the raging cosmic battle, many people in our day have been taken captive by the lie that the state, and not God, is to “go before us” as our savior and sustainer and the source of all good things. This discussion is calculated from beginning to end to expose and challenge this assumption. There are obvious implications here for the debate between proponents of “liberal” and “conservative” social policy (e.g., the “welfare state” and its opponents).

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.
5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 Render unto Caesar

The state (that is, government in general) is a social sphere established by God to exercise control under His authority.

1. Look around you. What are the benefits of government? How would you feel living in a society that had no laws or law enforcement? No building codes or maintained roads? No national defense?
2. The Bible tells us to “honor the emperor” (1 Peter 2:17). How do we obey that command while also facing the truth about who many of our leaders are today? What examples come to mind from Scripture?

Truth #2 What Is Caesar’s

God meant for the state’s authority to be limited, not extending into other social spheres such as the church or the family.

1. How would you describe or limit the sphere that the state is charged to manage? See Romans 13:1-7 and related passages. In what areas should we submit to the government?
2. What are some current debates in politics and society that stem from a disagreement over the scope of the state’s responsibilities?
Truth #3 In a Terrible State

When the state no longer recognizes God as its higher authority, it can (and often does) become a fearsome monster.

1. What historical examples come to mind in which the state expanded greatly beyond its appointed sphere? What happened as a result? Where is this still happening today, either in relatively minor or in serious, life-threatening ways? How can we help support Christians who live under the rule of a monster state?

2. When is it wrong to accept benefits or supposed protections offered by a “nanny state”? What should the church do when the state takes on responsibilities that ought to be handled by the church or other private institutions?

3. In what ways is the state a threat to the family? How has the growth of the state over time changed the way that families used to work? What should we do about it?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 10
The American Experiment: Stepping Stones

Introduction
For this tour we remain in the southwest sector of the compass long enough to examine a special sub-category of our last topic of discussion: the design of the state. In particular, we take a brief look at the questions, “What should God’s minister on earth (Romans 13:4) look like? What is a proper form for this agency that is divinely appointed and commissioned to administer justice, punish evil, and encourage goodness among its citizens or subjects?” We approach this task by considering the American Experiment.

Themes
From the beginning, Dr. Tackett lays down three ground rules for this study: First, we will not seek to deify America; and second, we will not seek to deify the Founding Fathers. (The third ground rule is dealt with at the end of the lesson.) Having established these guidelines, he hastens to point out that there are compelling reasons for giving special attention to the subject of this tour. The American Experiment has the potential of being unusually conducive to a deeper understanding of God’s design for the state, precisely because it is unique in the history of the world. Here on these shores, and here alone, people with a strong Christian worldview have been afforded an unparalleled opportunity to create from scratch what they considered an ideal system of government—a system designed in careful conformity with the principles outlined in Lesson 9.

We begin by establishing the biblical character of that worldview. The New England Primer, the second best-selling book (after the Bible) of the colonial era, provides an intriguing window into the attitudes of early Americans. In particular, it reveals an outlook and a way of life powerfully shaped by the teachings of Scripture. The pervasiveness of this outlook is further demonstrated in statements made by America’s early political leaders, legal and social architects, and educational pioneers—people like Benjamin Rush, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams, Charles Carroll, Noah Webster, and the founders of Harvard, Princeton, and Columbia Universities. In spite of the fact that not all of them were practicing Christians, these luminaries agreed with President John Adams that the success of America’s republican form of government would prove directly dependent upon the virtue and morality of her people, and that virtue and morality are necessarily founded upon religion—by which all meant the Christian religion. These early thinkers were convinced that the state must be held accountable to the authority of a higher ethical and spiritual standard—the “Natural Law” or the “Law of Nature’s God”—if the human rights abuses they had observed in Europe and throughout history were to be avoided on this continent.

Tragically, however, America is quickly turning away from these principles. It is hard to put a finger on the exact reasons, but one clear element came as Darwinian evolutionary theory made its influence felt in the field of law. In 1869, Harvard Law School Dean Christopher Langdell advanced the view that law is based not upon the transcendent standard of “Nature’s God,” but rather upon a fluid and constantly mutating body of “doctrine,” a set of purely human ideas that inevitably change “by slow degrees.” In other words, law and ethics, like biological species, are continually “evolving.” Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes expanded on this theme by declaring that the law is “simply an embodiment of the ends and purposes of a society at a given point in its history,” thus effectively granting to the state the power to establish society’s ethical norms. John Dewey implemented these ideas in the realm of public education. “There is no God,” said Dewey (nicknamed “The Architect of Modern Education”), “and there is no soul. Hence, there are no needs for the props of traditional religion.”

These statements, says Dr. Tackett, bring us to the present moment. Today, America has largely forgotten God and denied the validity of her biblically based Christian roots. As a result, we see the power of the state expanding in our time. This, too, is a manifestation of the perennial cosmic battle, which is always fought most fiercely in the social realm. Ultimately, we must face the fact that the American Experiment is likely to fail altogether if we do not take intentional and deliberate steps to salvage it. This task falls primarily on the shoulders of Christian people. As believers, we need to remember God’s call to prayer and repentance in 2 Chronicles 7:13-14. There is nothing to be gained, says Dr. Tackett, by casting blame on non-Christians (this is the third ground rule for our study).

Points to Watch For

This last point should be kept in mind throughout the entire discussion. From beginning to end, Dr. Tackett seeks to communicate the thought that the American Experiment makes sense only when understood as the brainchild of Christians who operated on the basis of a biblical worldview. Just as the experiment was instigated by believers, so it must be carried on by believers—Christians who care deeply and passionately about their country—if it is to survive and continue to succeed.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.
2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they've spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member's study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader's material that's online.

Truth #1 Built on the Rock

America was founded by people who held to a comprehensive biblical worldview.

1. Were you surprised by all the evidence showing how profoundly Christian most of America’s founders were? How much of this had you already been exposed to in high school or college?

2. Do you believe that America was in some way created by God Himself, or rather that it was just formed by the good intentions of some of His followers? What did the founders say about America’s birth? Why?

3. How did a Christian worldview lead the founders to adopt the structure of federal government that America still enjoys today? Why is it important for each branch to hold separate powers?

Truth #2 A Nation Adrift

In the late 1800s, America began a long journey away from its founding beliefs and principles.

1. Why did John Adams say that “our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other”? Where does that leave us today?
2. What happens when law becomes based merely on precedent and on society’s current notions of right and wrong rather than on biblical principles and the law of nature? When you read about a trial in the news today, how much difference do you detect between what is deemed legal and what is morally right or just?

3. Why do you think it is in vogue today to hate America? How much of it is a response to America’s religious roots, and how much of it is a reaction to the nation’s drift away from Christian principles?

Truth #3 “If My People ...”

Christians must not abandon America but rather pray and work hard for a return to biblical roots.

1. Is it necessary for a nation to go through the cycle of being blessed by God, then forgetting Him, enduring His judgment, and finally repenting so as to be blessed again? What hopes, if any, do you have that America might return full-circle to its roots? If you are an American, what can you do toward that end?

2. How would you describe the church’s impact on American culture today? Have Christians lost their ability to be a preserving “salt” in the world? A light in the darkness? If so, what must we do to regain influence in our multicultural society?

3. Do you have a heart for America? A passion for the ideals on which it was founded? How might you, or your friends, have been influenced by those who view America with disdain? How do you think God feels about this nation today?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 11

Labor: Created to Create

Introduction

We now turn our attention to the northwest and embark on a tour of our fifth social sphere: labor. By the time this tour is finished, we will have made a number of striking discoveries about this system. We will have found that creative labor is a vital element of God’s plan for the social realm; that work is not a “curse,” as it is often represented today, but an essential element of our humanity; that it is, in fact, rooted in the nature of God Himself, the Original Worker. We will also learn that the structure of this sphere parallels that of the others we have already visited in that it also appears triune in design. And we will begin to see that the importance of work is closely related to our divinely given responsibility to care for the poor.

Themes

“What is work?” Present that question to a cross-section of the population and you’ll probably receive a wide variety of answers. Unfortunately, within the context of contemporary culture it’s increasingly likely that a preponderance of these responses will be negative in tone. Many people use phrases such as “a bummer,” “what I have to do for money,” or “the only way to get to Friday” to describe their feelings about work. Even Christians sometimes reference the Fall as support of their view that labor is nothing but a curse.

In this lesson, Dr. Tackett makes the case that these disparaging attitudes toward work are completely at odds with the scriptural worldview. He even goes so far as to argue that they can be interpreted as yet another manifestation of the cosmic battle—in other words, that they are destructive lies. Far from being a curse, creative labor is a glorious privilege. It flows out of the heart of God Himself, who labored six days to bring the world into existence, stamped His inventive and energetic image upon mankind, and placed Adam in the garden to tend it, beautify it, and increase its productivity. The creativity of man, then, while subject to the effects of the Fall, is nevertheless a mirror image of the creativity of God. It is designed to be a source of joy so fulfilling and wonderful that the Lord deemed it necessary to give us the fourth commandment in order to insure that we would set our work aside and rest at least one day a week!
This sphere, like that of the family, the church, and the state, is founded upon relationships. These relationships, which are ordered according to scriptural principles (see, for example, Ephesians 6:5-9), fit the general triune pattern we have observed in other areas. God has granted the stewardship of His material goods to owners; and these owners are in turn accountable to Him for the use of His “stuff” and responsible for the welfare and productivity of the workers who operate under their direction and authority. Within this sphere, which Dr. Tackett calls the “engine room of culture,” wealth is generated that has the potential to meet the physical needs of mankind; and the responsibility for the compassionate use of this wealth, he argues, falls primarily upon the shoulders of those who are engaged in the field of labor.

As a special sub-heading of this topic, we also consider the implications of this discussion for media and the creative arts. Here, too, says Dr. Tackett, there is a fundamental “truth issue” at stake. For under the sovereignty of God and His eternal ethical standard, beauty in the arts should be consistent with goodness and truth. This is a subject of special concern in a time like ours when, as Dr. Francis Schaeffer averred, “whoever controls the media controls culture.” Within this context, it is imperative that Christians begin to make their influence felt in the field of creative art.

Points to Watch For

Participants on this tour may find themselves challenged—in some cases uncomfortably so—to reconsider their personal views of work. It may be important to handle the discussion in such a way that they will be gently encouraged to explore the joy of engaging in creative labor rather than made to feel guilty about having a “TGIF” attitude toward the work week. It’s also worth noting that Dr. Tackett’s ideas about compassion and relief for the poor—namely, that labor needs to create job opportunities for the needy rather than leaving this area of concern solely to the state—may become the occasion of some lively political and social debate.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.
2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.
3. Watch the DVD together.
4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.
5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.

Truth #1 One Creator, Many Sub-Creators

God made us in His image, so we too like to work and create things.

1. Clearly, the Lord enjoyed creating the world. So what kind of work do you enjoy? Would you rather do that work than simply pursue recreation every day? For you, when does work become play?

2. How would your life be different if other people did not build roads or construct buildings, write books, invent cars or computers, grow food, provide health care, create music (or paintings or photographs), etc.? What is it that you were created to create? Are you regularly engaged in that work? Why or why not? What will it take to devote yourself more to God’s particular calling?

3. Do you “observe the Sabbath” (or “the Lord’s Day”)? Why or why not? If you do, how do you observe it? Are you glad to do so, seeing rest as a gift from God? Or is your Sunday filled with work, much like other days? What does God want for you, and why?

Truth #2 Work Takes Work

After man rebelled against God, work became harder, but it is still a good thing, and we should enjoy being stewards for God.

1. Do we really believe that everything ultimately belongs to God, including all that we own? Do we act as faithful stewards of God’s things? Does that include our talents and abilities? Our bodies? Our time?

2. How do you feel about work? Do you dread Monday morning? If so, why? Do you think that you have to work, or rather that you get to work? Has your attitude toward work been distorted by the world’s perspective?

3. Sometimes the problem with work seems to be the particular responsibilities you have or the work environment itself. How should you respond when your job is mundane, demeaning, overly stressful, or a burden in some other way? What does the Bible mean by working “as unto the Lord and not for men” (Ephesians 6:7; Colossians 3:23)? Are you doing that? What impression are you making on your employer?
Truth #3 Minding the Master’s Store

The Bible contains many principles that should govern how we go about being stewards for God.

1. Do we freely give to others in need, as God would have us do? How can we help the poor find fulfilling work, not just “welfare” (a handout)? Why is that an important distinction?

2. Does “beauty” (especially in the arts) matter to God? Why? Is God calling you to create something beautiful? If so, in what form or medium? Does all your work, no matter what field you’re in, glorify God? Is that your chief motive for doing it? What is the difference between “sacred” and “secular” work?

3. Which sources of information and entertainment are most important to us? Do they offer the truth or lies? Do the lies bother us, or do they sometimes amuse us? Are we victims of media overload? How might we consume media differently?

4. How do you view retirement? What is your dream for your senior years? Is that just your goal, or is it God’s wish for you as well? What does the Bible say about retirement? Do you think you would be happy not working at all?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.
Lesson 12
Community & Involvement: God Cares; Do I?

Introduction
For this final installment of our “worldview tour” we head southeast and gaze upon the face of God as it is revealed to us in the last of our six social spheres: the sphere of community and involvement. Here, perhaps more than in any other sphere or field of inquiry, we have an opportunity to draw near to the Creator and learn what it is that has compelled Him to draw near to us. We will find that the God of the Scriptures is in fact the Lord of the lonely, the Savior of the outcast, the Defender of the defenseless, and the Sustainer of all who find themselves in need. Our call is to become like Him by discovering what it means to love not only Him, but also our neighbor.

Themes
Involvement in this sphere—the sphere of community outreach, practical service, and active love expressed in Christian charity—has been a hallmark of the church for many centuries. For a number of reasons, claims Dr. Tackett, it has fallen into neglect in our day. Not only that, but the general call for involvement in culture at large, in all of the spheres, has actually become a matter of debate in some contemporary Christian circles. And yet a careful examination of Scripture reveals that believers have a mandate to reclaim their place in this important arena. We dare not, like Jonah, try to escape God’s call to be involved. Over and over again, the Scripture clearly presents the perplexing reality that God entrusts us with carrying out His mission and purpose with the world. We cannot deny the link and dependency God has created between His divine plan and the faithfulness with which His followers embody biblical truth in their behavior and reflect the heart of Jesus in their lives.

What is the heart of Jesus? This is not a difficult question to answer. In Matthew 11:28-29, Christ tells us plainly that He is gentle and humble in heart. The heart of Jesus stands radically opposed to the principle of “survival of the fittest.” It identifies closely with the plight of the weak and disenfranchised. It is a heart that compels Him to wash the feet of others and lay down His life for His friends. In doing these things, Jesus not only becomes our example, but He also reveals to us the deepest concerns of His Father in heaven (John 14:9).

We must realize that this is why Jesus sums up the entire law in two “great commandments”: “Love God with all your heart, soul, mind, and strength; and love your neighbor as yourself” (see Matthew 22:36-40). Here at the end of our tour we come back again to the great fountainhead and source of all truth, the divine nature itself. “God is love,” writes the apostle John, “and he who abides in love abides in God, and God in him” (1 John 4:16). And love, in the practical sense, means being a good neighbor to the people around us—like the Samaritan in Christ’s famous parable.

Points to Watch For

If God cares enough to get involved with the needs of people, we need to care and get involved as well. This is the thrust of Dr. Tackett’s message. So forceful is his presentation of this concept that it is almost certain to impact participants at a deep emotional level. When it does, they will probably ask the question that has been asked so many times before: “What should I do?” At this point it will be important to emphasize the thought that active love is not a matter of following a “to-do” list or establishing a system of rules or simple steps. Instead, it is a question of developing an attitude of humility, openness, sensitivity, and creative compassion. It is a matter of using our God-given gifts and talents in the service of others and pursuing the passions He has instilled in our hearts.

The Meeting

1. Follow the advice in your leadership training materials (whether online at mytruthproject.org or on bonus DVD) to set up and begin your group meeting.

2. Before starting the video, challenge your people to fill in the quotations in their study guide as they watch the DVD. This fun exercise will help them stay alert. Their guide also contains the answers to this exercise.

3. Watch the DVD together.

4. Start the discussion.

Ask your guests to list what they saw on the tour. What did they find particularly interesting or striking, and why?

Having your guests begin simply by listing things they saw is a great ice-breaker. Once they’ve spent a couple of minutes on that, it will be easy for you to move them quickly into a discussion of the key ideas and their practical application.

5. Dive into the main points together.

The group member’s study guide contains the following key points and questions. You may use these as a map for your brief group discussion. Also, if you wish, you may ask one or more of the questions from the leader’s material that’s online.
Truth #1 God So Loves the World

Our Lord is actively involved in this world, and He wants us to join Him in that work.

1. Does God care just about saving individuals, or does He want to renew the whole cosmos? Has He given up on the physical universe He once made? Consider the words of Genesis 1; Romans 8:18-25; Colossians 1:15-20.

2. Dr. Tackett runs through a long list of all the things he sees God doing in the world. Have fun creating your own list (maybe on an extra sheet of blank paper!).

Truth #2 Who Is My Neighbor?

We are called especially to reach out to our “neighbor” in need—including the poor, the orphans, widows, and outcasts.

1. Who are our neighbors? Who is poor in some way? Who are the lonely and outcast, and what are we being called to do for each of those individuals? What did C.S. Lewis mean when he said that “there are no ordinary people. You have never talked to a mere mortal”?

2. What is it in God’s nature that makes Him care especially for widows and orphans and outcasts? Do we really care for the needy? Whom do we weep and pray for often? What tangible help do we offer?

3. How do you feel about the fact that God, the Lord of Creation, is humble and gentle? Do you find it difficult to be humble? To do away with pride? What is the difference between humility and timidity?

Truth #3 Pulling a Jonah

Today’s Christians are relatively uninvolved in the culture, compared to believers who’ve gone before.

1. What examples from the past or present make you feel good about the Christian community’s involvement in the world?

2. Why are some Christians today seemingly reluctant to help out a “sinking ship”? Where do you think we got the idea that God is interested only in saving us and getting us to heaven, rather than resurrecting our bodies for eternal life in a new earth?
3. For you, what is a good balance between church activities (mingling with other Christians) and community involvement? Is one keeping you from doing the other?

When Time Is Up

Follow the advice in your leadership training materials to close out the meeting.

More Resources

The small-group support website (mytruthproject.org) contains additional materials that may help you prepare to lead a group session. These include the slides from each lecture, an outline of Dr. Tackett’s talk, a list of key terms and their definitions, a list of Scripture references, and other resources. Your group member’s study guide contains an optional matching quiz (for their private review) and a similar list of Scripture passages.